摘要

Are you passionate about driving impactful marketing strategies and contributing to the success of life-changing therapies? Take on a key role at Novartis as a Marketing & Operations Manager and help shape the future of healthcare innovation.

Reporting into the Head of RLT, you will lead and execute innovative brand marketing plans to ensure our products achieve maximum market share and revenue growth in line with strategic goals. From lifecycle management to customer insights and strategic promotions, you 'll make a meaningful impact on Novartis ' presence and performance in the pharmaceutical market.

About the Role

- Provide high-quality, timely marketing input and execute tactical plans that maximize brand value and growth potential.
- Analyse medical, marketing, and socio-demographic data to define product positioning, target groups, and promotion strategies.

- Develop impactful events, create systematic product launch strategies, and ensure distribution success for new launches.
- Establish processes and KPIs to track performance, report progress, and provide insights to key stakeholders.
- Efficiently prioritise resources and activities for marketing excellence while building a customer-centric marketing approach across teams.
- Support the Head of RLT in managing annual budgets and forecasting investments to maximise impact.

What You ' ll Need to Succeed:

- Demonstrated experience in marketing leadership within healthcare or pharmaceuticals.
- Proficiency in cross-functional collaboration, stakeholder engagement, and project management.
- Strong skills in strategy development, market analysis, and operational excellence.
- Ability to build trust-based relationships with regional stakeholders and deliver impactful results.
- Agility and adaptability in a fast-paced, evolving market environment.
