timelines.

- Perform sensor risk assessments and define calibration requirements with QA and SMEs.
- Execute in-house calibrations and maintain calibration standards for internal processes.
- Investigate complex deviations and implement preventive actions focused on engineering compliance.
- Document engineering issues, detect abnormalities, and ensure GMP compliance through corrective measures.
- Create compliance-driven KPIs using CMMS data to monitor and improve performance.
- Optimize engineering documentation and train technical staff on updated processes.
- Initiate and manage quality compliance records, including change controls, CAPAs, and investigations.

Essential Requirements

- Bachelor ' s degree in Engineering, or related technical field.
- 3+ years of working experience within (pharmaceutical) GMP and or isotope manufacturing.
- Fluent in English
- Proven experience in calibration processes within a GMP-regulated environment.
- Ability to analyze technical issues and implement effective preventive actions.
- Proficiency in documentation management and compliance systems (e.g., CMMS).
- Excellent communication and collaboration skills across cross-functional teams.
