Location: Mexico City, Mexico
Relocation Support: This role is based in Mexico City, Mexico. Novartis is unable to offer relocation support: please only apply if accessible.

Take ownership of quality where it truly matters - at the intersection of facilities, engineering, and patient impact. In this role, you will play a key part in ensuring deviations are thoroughly investigated, understood, and resolved, helping to maintain high standards in a complex GMP environment. You ' ll work closely with cross-functional teams to drive robust investigations and meaningful corrective actions, while shaping a culture of continuous improvement and quality excellence. If you enjoy combining analytical thinking with hands-on collaboration, this role offers a chance to make a real difference.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

- Open and assess deviations within required timelines, ensuring accurate classification and documentation
- Evaluate product impact of deviations, aligning with batch release requirements and quality standards
- Author, own, and drive investigations through to timely and compliant closure; update SOPs as relevant to Deviations/CAPAs
- Apply structured root cause analysis methods to identify causes of process and product deviations
- Ensure investigations are complete, accurate, and fully supported with robust documentation
- Design and execute experiments or studies to support investigation outcomes
- Collaborate cross-functionally to assess deviation impact and maintain compliant operations
- Develop, document, and implement effective corrective and preventive actions
- Monitor CAPA effectiveness and ensure execution through Good Manufacturing Practice systems and training
- Deliver training and communication to reinforce quality practices and maintain compliance

Essential Requirements

- Bachelor ' s degree in a relevant field with pharmaceutical industry experience
- Fluency in written and spoken English
- Two to five years of experience in a pharmaceutical, facilities, engineering, or quality environment
- Hands-on experience with deviation management and writing investigations in a GMP environment
- Proven experience in CAPA management, including creation, implementation, and effectiveness tracking
- Strong root cause analysis skills using structured investigation methodologies
- Strong understanding of current good manufacturing practices and regulatory expectations for biologics manufacturing
- Excellent technical writing skills, with the ability to clearly structure investigations and present findings
