摘要

Lead strategic business initiatives for Novartis Group and Executive Committee to maximize business value and long-term competitive advantage. Responsible for planning and delivering high-impact projects around key products in major markets, building organization-wide leadership capabilities, and managing external consultants for capability development programs.

About the Role

Major Accountabilities

- Lead Business Process Excellence and Transformation Projects: Independently lead AI-enabled and process improvement initiatives, ensuring successful delivery, governance, risk management, and value realization
- Drive Process Intelligence Initiatives: Lead process mining and intelligence engagements using Celonis to identify opportunities, generate insights, and enable measurable business improvements

- Enable AI Adoption Across Business Processes: Identify, frame, and promote AI, GenAI, and Agentic AI opportunities throughout the process excellence lifecycle
- Advise Global Process Owners and Business Leaders: Partner with GPOs and business stakeholders to develop transformation roadmaps aligned to process performance objectives and value drivers.
- Facilitate Value Discovery and Business Case Development: Define problem statements, value hypotheses, success measures, and adoption considerations for AI-enabled initiatives.
- Bridge Business and Technology Teams: Act as the key interface between process teams and DDIT/technology partners to ensure alignment on scope, governance, and expected outcomes.
- Build Organizational AI Capability: Strengthen the BPE AI Community of Practice through knowledge sharing, workshops, demonstrations, and reusable guidance materials.
- Advance Standards and Thought Leadership: Incorporate external best practices and contribute to enterprise governance, standards, and AI-enabled process excellence capabilities.

Minimum Requirements

- Experience in Process Excellence or Transformation: Proven experience driving end-to-end process improvement and business transformation in complex, global organizations.
- Strong Project Leadership Skills: Demonstrated ability to independently manage projects, stakeholders, risks, governance, and delivery outcomes.
- Process Intelligence Expertise: Strong working knowledge of Process Mining/Process Intelligence, preferably with Celonis, and the ability to convert insights into business actions.
- AI and GenAI Business Acumen: Solid understanding of AI, Generative AI, and Agentic AI from a business process and transformation perspective.
- Process Improvement Methodology Knowledge: Strong grounding in Process Excellence, Continuous Improvement, Lean, and Six Sigma principles
- Stakeholder Management and Influencing Skills: Ability to educate, coach, and influence business leaders and process owners across organizational levels.
- Design Thinking and Problem-Solving Capability: Experience facilitating workshops, framing business problems, prioritizing opportunities, and driving solution alignment.
- Bachelor's degree in a relevant discipline, with Lean Six Sigma certification preferred and exposure to AI-related initiatives or change enablement.
