摘要

Senior Change Management Specialist responsible for driving change and adoption for enterprise technology initiatives. The role owns end-to-end change and adoption strategies, ensuring smooth transitions, strong stakeholder engagement, and sustained user adoption across complex global programs. Success is measured not only by delivery of the change plan but by achieving meaningful business adoption and user outcomes.

About the Role

Major Accountabilities

- Build and maintain strong relationships with senior stakeholders, sponsors, and cross-functional partners to drive successful change adoption.
- Develop and execute stakeholder engagement strategies, including stakeholder mapping, influence assessments, and readiness planning.

- Lead and apply change management methodologies (e.g., Prosci, ADKAR) to support business, technology, and AI-driven transformation initiatives.
- Facilitate case-for-change discussions, change impact assessments and stakeholder workshops to identify adoption challenges and opportunities.
- Define, monitor, and report adoption KPIs, leveraging data, user feedback, and sentiment analysis to optimize change outcomes.
- Design and deliver integrated adoption programs that combine communications, training, engagement, and reinforcement activities.
- Anticipate resistance and adoption risks, implementing proactive mitigation and enablement strategies to improve business readiness.
- Establish sustainable change management practices by developing playbooks, standards, and knowledge-sharing initiatives that strengthen organizational capability.

Minimum Requirements

- 7+ years of experience in change management, transformation, organizational adoption, or related roles within complex global organizations.
- Strong expertise in applying change management frameworks such as Prosci, including stakeholder management and impact assessment methodologies.
- Proven track record of leading change initiatives for digital, technology, or AI-enabled transformations and product launches.
- Excellent facilitation and presentation skills with experience leading executive-level workshops and large-scale engagement sessions.
- Strong analytical capabilities, including experience interpreting adoption metrics, user insights, and performance data to drive decision-making.
- Demonstrated ability to influence stakeholders and deliver results within matrixed, multicultural, and cross-functional environments.
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills in English, with the ability to tailor messaging for diverse audiences.
- Passion for AI and emerging technologies, with experience leveraging or advocating AI-enabled tools to enhance change and adoption outcomes.
