Relocation Support: This role is based in London (The Westworks), United Kingdom. Novartis is unable to offer relocation support: please only apply if accessible.

Ready to lead clinical studies that can make a meaningful difference for patients? As a Senior Study Leader, together with the Clinical Science Lead (CSL), you will co-lead cross-functional Clinical Trial Teams (CTTs) and lead global studies through delivery, helping turn clinical strategy into high-quality execution. You will bring together diverse partners, proactively manage timelines, budgets, and risks, and create an empowered environment where teams can collaborate, adapt and perform at their best. Along the way, you will have the opportunity to strengthen how we deliver clinical trials by championing operational excellence, continuous improvement, and knowledge sharing across Novartis.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

· Co-lead cross-functional Clinical Trial Teams (CTTs) to deliver global studies with quality, efficiency, and operational excellence.

· Drive end-to-end study planning and execution in alignment with clinical protocols and operational plans.

· Proactively manage study timelines, budgets, risks, contingencies and inspection readiness throughout the study lifecycle.

· Build empowered, psychologically safe teams that encourage collaboration, accountability, agility, and high performance.

· Partner across global and local functions to strengthen study delivery, recruitment, data operations and vendor performance.

· Oversee study close-out activities, ensuring appropriate documentation, accountability, compliance and audit readiness.

· Champion continuous improvement and knowledge sharing to strengthen clinical study operations and ways of working.

Essential Requirements

· Bachelor's degree in life sciences, healthcare or another clinically relevant field.

· At least four years of recent experience in clinical research or drug development across Phase I-IV studies.

· At least three years of experience leading, planning, executing, reporting, and delivering clinical studies in a global matrix environment.

· Strong knowledge of Good Clinical Practice, International Council for Harmonization Good Clinical Practice (ICH-GCP) guidelines, health authority regulations and clinical quality standards.

· Demonstrated experience leading global or virtual cross-functional teams and building effective relationships with internal and external stakeholders.

· Strong project management, strategic thinking, communication, negotiation, prioritization, and problem-solving capabilities.

Benefits & Rewards

At Novartis, we ’ re committed to reimagining medicine together - and rewarding the people who make it happen.

Expected Annual Base Salary Range for role: 67,900 - 126,100 GBP Annual

The base salary offered is determined based on gender-neutral objectives, such as relevant skills, competencies and experience in accordance with the Novartis pay setting policy and upon joining Novartis will be reviewed periodically.

The rewards of being part of our team go far beyond base pay and incentives. We also offer a variety of competitive benefits in kind to help you thrive personally and professionally, such as insurance plans, retirement plans, wellbeing resources and global recognition programs. In addition, we provide flexible and hybrid working options, where possible, and minimum 14 weeks paid parental leave.

In addition to your base salary, you may be eligible for a performance-based bonus depending on certain performance parameters. Long-term equity awards granted at group level may also be part of your package. Further details will be provided during the application process.

You may be eligible for a company vehicle or a car allowance in accordance with the applicable local Novartis policies and guidelines.

Pay equity is a fundamental principle of our employment policy and reflects our commitment to create a diverse, equitable and inclusive environment that treats all employees with dignity and respect, as outlined in our Code of Ethics.
